

Truck Crash Injures 2 Men

The head on collision of two trucks, one loaded with lumber and the other with new automobiles, resulted in injury to two men and a clean-up of debris for several hours Friday morning.

The collision, blamed on highway conditions, took place on the highway near the intersection of the highway and the highway, resulting in a new wreck and debris on the highway.

An injured passenger in the truck was trapped for nearly 30 minutes, and County Sheriff John Pendick reported.

In improved condition at the County Hospital here was Lloyd Christ, 24, of Milestone, Sask., who was trapped in the cab of the truck.

His brother, Melvin Gilchrist, also of Milestone and driver of the truck, was reported in "good" condition at the hospital with a possible leg fracture and bruised cuts and bruises.

The driver of the lumber truck, Al Rahn, 47, of Petoskey, escaped injury. The truck owned by C. M. Harris Lumber Co., had a tractor pulled off the trailer.

Sheriff Papendick said the accident occurred on a steep hill, a mile and one-half south of here, at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Crash debris blocked all traffic on the highway for nearly an hour before a one-lane thoroughfare was cleared. It was not until shortly before noon Friday, however, that both traffic lanes were freed of the wreckage.

To clear the highway took four trucks and eight men of the county highway department and a recker. Four officers, including Sheriff Papendick, Grayling Police Chief Harold Hatfield, and troopers of the Houghton Lake State Police Post were needed to direct traffic.

The sheriff said the loaded lumber truck, traveling south, got into the top of the steep hill, started to slide back down the slippery grade.

The skidding truck crossed the highway and the trailer unit backed into a ditch, saving the tractor section from being crushed.

The lumber truck driver got out of his cab to get some sand to free his truck. The lumber truck driver, however, was unable to stop the truck and it slid down the hill.

The impact ripped the tractor from the lumber truck, scattered lumber into a tangled pile on the highway, and sent the first car of the four being carried by the lumber truck careening into the debris.

The new car was a total loss, while the tractor units of both trucks were badly smashed. Both trucks remained upright, however.

Marine Corporal John Krage Commended

John Krage, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Krage of Grayling now serving in Korea with the First Marine Division has been commended and given a Commendation Ribbon with a Combat "V" authorized.

Following is the citation given Krage under the signature of Major General E. A. Pollock, Commanding General of the First Marine Division.

"For excellent service in the line of his profession while serving with a Marine weapons company during operations against the enemy in Korea from 17 March to 10 August 1952. Serving as a demolitionist, Corporal Krage displayed outstanding ability and professional skill. On numerous occasions, he exposed himself to intense enemy small arms and mortar fire in order to strengthen the defense of critical positions by placing demolition charges around the position.

When they were knocked out by enemy fire, he again went forward to replace the charges and maintain the defense. On one occasion he disregarded his personal safety and moved out under devastating enemy fire to position where he placed eleven charges.

As a result of his determined efforts, the strategic position of the napalm charges contributed materially to the successful defense of the outpost. Corporal Krage's conduct throughout was in keeping with the high traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Vikings Meet Kalkaska Friday

In a game that could well decide the North Central Class C Conference play for the year, the Grayling Vikings travel to Kalkaska Friday night to meet that city's conference member.

Grayling can down the tall Kalkaska five, they are assured of at least a portion of the conference crown for this year.

Last Friday night, Grayling entertained the Houghton Lake Bob Cats here in a conference fray and handily defeated them 71 to 47.

The Vikings averaged better than 18 points per quarter while a tight defense held the Lakers to low scores.

Grayling scored 16, 16, 21 and 18 points respectively in each of the four periods. Jim Burch hit for 20 points for the Vikings with Red Hamilton adding 18 and Dale Pettengill 13.

Ursual led the Lakers with 14 points. Hamilton was a standout on the backboards for Grayling with Pettengill who got into the game in the second quarter turning in his best performance of the year.

The little Vikings took the measure of a much taller Houghton Lake second team by the score of 32 to 27.

Peterson Heads Lumber Dealers

T. P. Peterson, has been elected president of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers' association.

John George Stephan, Interred At Elmwood

The remains of John George Stephan, well known AuSable River guide and sportsman and son of a well known Crawford County pioneer family were interred in the Elmwood Cemetery Mausoleum with Masonic rites on February 1st, following services read at the P. M. Fallbearers were William Miller, Arthur Wakeley, Clarence Roberts, Bill Jensen, Ralph Redhead and Lee Hull.

Rev. R. C. Puffer officiated at the church service and read the following poem by Glen H. Temple at the request of the family:

SHOULD I GO FIRST
Should I go first, and you remain
To walk the road alone,
If you these simple rules maintain,
You'll never be alone.

Put on your boots and take your road,
Just as we always do.
A forest stream, the work of God,
There I will be with you.

Let happy thoughts just float about
Upon the morning air,
Bait up your hook and catch a trout,
Feel sure that I'll be there.

Or walk along a shady dell,
Where the giant tamarack sprays,
It's sacred where old memories dwell,
I'll be waiting for your call.

In memories I will stroll with you
Among the Norway pine,
The sun cannot molest the dew,
All nature stays in rhyme.

Should I go first and you remain,
Be happy with that thought,
The trip I take is not in vain,
But won with battles fought.

And when your pilgrimage is done,
You close this earthly home,
I'll lead the way, I'll take your hand,
You'll never be alone.

—Glen H. Temple.

Name New Polio Head

John H. Peterson, who has just successfully headed the March of Dimes during January was elected as Chapter Chairman of the Crawford County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at a meeting held Monday evening.

Following his election, Carroll Wert of Grayling was named to chairman the March of Dimes in Crawford County during January, 1954. Other officers of the Chapter are Mrs. Lester Welch, vice-chairman, Willard Cornell, secretary and Mrs. Ella Wilcox, treasurer.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Maurice Gorman, Dr. B. E. Henig and Robert Strong.

As this year's March of Dimes Chairman Peterson will be absent from the city until March in Reserve Army Training so prepared the following preliminary report on the receipts of the drive with a full and complete report to follow in March when all funds have been turned in.

Advance Special Gifts — $195.00
Corporate and Business — 568.00
School Collections — 28.44
Labor Division — 67.22
Porch Light Night — 610.82
Coin Collectors — 180.36
Sports Events — 39.78
Club and Organizations — 62.00
Total as of Feb. 9 — $1,891.60

It should be noted that these figures are for the entire County of Crawford and include each township. None of the above figures include all the money in the particular division since all funds have not been turned in. However, from collections that have been turned in, one conclusion is obvious.

The individual and group contributions this year are very generous and exceed those of 1952, whereas the "promotions" or "events" for benefit of the March of Dimes were fewer and derived less income. In the opinion of the committee, the contributions reflect the interest locally in the fight against infantile paralysis, an interest in helping those who have had or will have Polio.

The committee is grateful for this interest and expresses its thanks to all who have given and helped to make the drive successful.

Even the children have taken an active interest in the drive. Two little girls entered Polio Groceries one day last week each with a few pennies to spend. They were looking over the candy display when one of the young ladies walked over toward the check out counter. She noticed the polio canister. Returning to her companion she whispered something in her ear. They each put their pennies in the canister and left the store.

Rescue Four Lost Rabbit Hunters

Four rabbit hunters from Flint were rescued early Monday morning after being lost for nearly 12 hours about 17 miles east of Grayling near the McMaster Bridge Road.

Robert Booth, Orson Smith, Gaylord Coleman and Robert Passmore, all of Flint, became lost about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and were not found until 1:30 in the morning when they were brought out of the woods.

Passmore found his way back to the car and hailed a passing motorist who drove to Grayling and notified Sheriff John Papendick. With Conservation Officers Clarence Roberts and Russell Wright and Grover Cason, the sheriff went in after them. It was thought that Cason's four wheeled "jeep" could negotiate the woods trails but it could not get through. Officer Wright finally led the hunters out at 1:30 A. M. The men were about worn out from tramping in circles through the heavy snow which was heavily crusted.

A Place To Whittle...

The Eisenhower administration is committed to go all out in eliminating and punishing official corruption, in reducing the cost of government and eventually cutting taxes, and in heavily slashing the tremendous public payroll.

It looks as if this last matter offers a fertile field for achievement. As everyone knows, the number of government employees grew almost incredibly during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, entirely aside from those in the armed forces. And there is plenty of evidence that many of them are not needed, are overpaid by any reasonable standard in the light of the jobs they hold and the work they do, and have very dubious qualifications and abilities.

Early in January Senator Johnson of South Carolina, who is a Democrat, returned from a seven week foreign tour. He had gone abroad as head of a special congressional committee created to study American government personnel stationed in Europe and North Africa. And some of the statements he made to newspaper interviews should be of considerable interest to the taxpayers.

According to an AP account, Senator Johnson said that committee workers were shocked by the high salaries and luxurious living of federal employees in foreign lands. Some workers live in extremely expensive homes and apartments, with three or four servants. Stenographers earn as much as $6,000 a year, with the foreign service allowance which are tacked on to their salaries, and have personal maids. Some officials, the committee found, put their European girl friends on the U. S. payroll, and took them along when they were moved from country to country.

Also, the interview went on, some of the highest paid and responsible overseas jobs had been dealt out on a political basis, to people who were woefully lacking in ability and experience. In many cases employees were kept on the payroll months after their work had been completed and there was no longer any need for their services.

Avoid Trouble By Following Safety Theme

"You can't go wrong if you follow the advice given in the theme of the new national traffic safety campaign, 'Know and obey the traffic laws,'" according to Sergeant Hiram Grimsom, commander of the Houghton Lake post of the Michigan State Police.

"That's the title selected by the National Safety Council and a good one it is," said Sergeant Grimsom. "And the campaign slogan fits right in, 'Don't learn traffic rules by accident!'"

In Michigan the campaign is sponsored by the State Safety Commission, with municipal, county and state police cooperating as well as safety organizations and others.

"Just knowing the traffic rules is not enough," Sergeant Grimsom stated. "You have to obey them. Even the unintentional and thoughtless violator causes just as bad a smashup as does the deliberate, reckless driver. And seven out of every 10 fatal accidents are the result of violations on the part of one or more drivers."

"Last year 49,000 persons were killed or injured on Michigan streets and highways. That's equal to the population of a good sized city. There were 165,000 accidents."

"The only sure way we have at present to reduce this terrible toll is by drivers themselves being more faithful in obeying the rules of the road. If every driver practiced courtesy, caution and common sense we wouldn't have these accidents. He should not only know his job, but keep his mind on doing it the right way. That's his best guarantee of staying out of trouble."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just a Little "Outdated"

Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open — even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.

I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind — and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!

Not 'til today that is — so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!

From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!

IT IS STRANGE how you hear folks say time and time again that trucks don't pay enough highway use taxes. When you press them and ask how much they think the trucks do pay in comparison with the passenger car, you get answers like "maybe twice, perhaps three times as much."

Nothing could be further from the truth.

In 1951, in Michigan, it took the total road taxes paid by over 40 automobiles to equal those paid by just one large transport truck! Dollar-wise, the comparison was $46.07 for the average passenger car against $1,961.00 for the average large transport truck!

Just think of the revenue Michigan gets from Public Servant No. 1, the TRUCK!

If you've got it, a truck brought it!

CATCH MORE FISH IN '53!

A lot of fishermen are impatiently awaiting the coming of the spring and summer months, resolving that this year they're going to catch more and bigger fish than last. Most of them go along with the theory that the one big factor in fishing success is luck. A little analysis of the situation would prove this an unworthy alibi—and while there may well be times when fish go berserk and bite on anything from a pocket handkerchief to a red rubber band, don't count on being around when it happens!

Look at your own fishing friends. Aren't there a certain number of them who always seem to be "lucky"? Every week end they'll come back from the lake with all the fish they want. Meanwhile you may have been fishing in the same lake, but you just weren't "lucky." Even when this happens day after day most of us are reluctant to admit that those friends might know a little more about the art—and what they know you could know too, with just a little application.

Twenty Million Fishermen

Scattered throughout this great nation of 48 states are more than twenty million fishermen. About one out of ten buckles down to the job of learning enough about fishing to deliver a feeling of self-satisfaction. If you're one of these "students" of the art you're going to catch more fish than the other fellows—and even on days when everything falls you'll come home with the feeling that at least you gave it the old "college try," and you'll be satisfied with the knowledge that the law of averages will take care of you next time!

Get Smart—Now!

So, during these winter months in Michigan, study fishing while you're waiting for spring. How? Well, if you know what lakes you'll be fishing, ask the Conservation Department if they have made a map showing weed beds, deep holes, reefs and other contours which would be helpful in locating natural fishing grounds. These maps are very inexpensive—yet very valuable to a fishing "student." And how about your accuracy with a bait-casting or fly rod? It's easy to "put a fish down" by making too many casts in an effort to get your lure in just the right place. Learn to hit the spot the first time. Most communities have winter sessions in bait and fly casting in school gymnasiums or large halls. Join the class! Or get one started in your town. Then learn more about the fish you're after—their feeding habits, favorite foods at various times of the year, and their feeding temperament.

When the season opens put all this knowledge in one boat and watch what happens! You'll find yourself up in that "lucky" ten percent wherever you go in Michigan Outdoors!

FLASH! "Michigan Outdoors" will soon become a full half-hour show on television... watch for the announcement of a new, more exciting than ever "Michigan Outdoors" with Mort Neff!

Don't Play Guessing Games With Your Dry Cleaner

Don't just send any kind of soiled garments to him without explanation and expect him to pop it back to you in a crisp bag, fresh and good as new. He didn't make the laws of chemistry.

Using research findings of his trade, he fights a running battle with all the new fabrics and plastics. He can't always win. He inspects before cleaning for spots, stains, prior damage, faulty weaving, tricky buttons or trimmings that won't stand chemicals or heat. But help him out. After all, it's your clothing.

Tell him about stains on your garments, food, liquids and the like. Some stains don't show up until heat hits them. Then it's too late. Certain liquids will react on rayon under heat and cause the material to disintegrate. Always get the garment to your cleaner at once after spillage.

NUMEROUS HEADACHES

Sometimes rinsing; applied to fabrics to give them shape and body, will withstand several cleanings. Then it loses strength. Perhaps the garment was stretched or distorted in manufacture. With the rinsing gone it appears to shrink. That's only one of your cleaner's numerous headaches.

A group of dyes called "fugitive dyes" may ruin or rub off in even the most careful processes. Sometimes moths leave a hollow skeleton of textile fiber apparently intact; then the cleaning process shows up their work. Some of the most beautiful of the new plastic buttons become shapeless lumps or fade into the fabric at even moderate pressing temperatures. The cleaner must watch for all of these.

The sun is a villain. It will fade almost any dye and weaken many fabrics after prolonged exposure. "Fume fading," caused by many kinds of gas fumes, coal smoke, and other agents including perspiration, won't always show up until the garment is subjected to the moderately high temperatures used in drying and pressing.

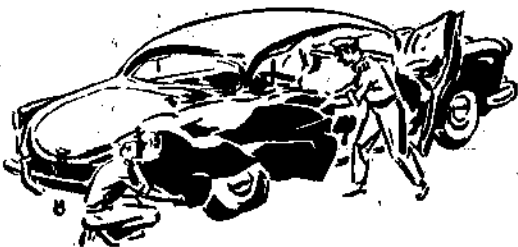

So give your cleaner a fair chance. It hurts him when he returns a garment in an unsatisfactory condition. He wants your continued patronage. And again—after all, it's your clothing!
